No State in the Valley of the Mississippi offers so great an inducement to the settler as the State of Illinois. There is no portion of the world where all of the conditions of climate and soil so afmiranly combine to produce those two great staples, Cons and Wheat, as the Prairies of Illinois. EASTERN AND SOUTHERN MARKETS.

These lands are contiguous to a railroad 700 miles in length, which connects with other roads, and navigable lakes and riv-ers, thus affording an unbroken communication with the Eastern and Southern markets. APPLICATION OF CAPITAL

Thus far capita and labor have been applied to developing the soil; the great resources of the State in coal and from are almost untouched. The invariable rule that the mechanic arts flourish RAILBOAD SYSTEM OF ILLINOIS.

The State is rapidly filling up with population; 868,025 per sous having been added since 1850, making the present population 1,719,495—a ratio of 102 per cent in 10 years. AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS. The Agricultural Products of Illinois are greater than those Since 1854 the tempony have sold 1.300,000 acres, bey sell only to actual cultivators, and every contract conius an agreement to cultivate. Mechanics and workingmon will find the free school system encouraged by the State and endowed with a large revenue for the support of schools. Their children can live in alght of the church and school homes, and grow up with the prosperity of the leading State in the Great Western Empire.

RIGHT'S CELEBRATED REJUVENATING ELIXIR!

Prepared on the strictest Pharmaceutical principles by one of the ablest Chemists of the age.

FEMILS is altogether a new medicine, the result of modern discoveries in the vegetable kingdom, being an entirely new and abstract method of cure, irrespective of all the old and worn out systems published by accomplished quacks to the suffering. Dr. Wright, wall knowing the deception practised upon the animiliated, felt it his duty at once to have this Elizir tested by the whole Medical Faculty. who, without even one dissenting voice, have given in their adharence to its perfect and undivided control over the whole physical man when his frame has been reduced, and when all other medicines known to the Pharmaco pusis have been tried in vain. Long thought years of patient investigation, and a null desperandows determination have crowned the Doctor's efforts, and he now offers the Elizir to suffering humanity as the only thing that can cure the following diseases—namely: ral Debility, Mental and Physical Depression,

Imhecitity, Determination of Blood to the Head. Confused Ideas,

General Irritability,

Bestlessness and Sloeplessness at Night,

Absunce of Muscular Efficiency,

Loss of Angelia. Loss of Appetits,

Generation,
Palpitation of the Heart, And, in fact, all the concomitants of a nervous and debilitated

It is quite different from alcoholic preparations. It is not sub-ject to reactions in any shape; it continues to exert its influence gradually and efficiently, as long as the least necessity exists for As a Female Medicine,

It is equally powerful and effective, and restores the equilibrium sooner and safer than all the other medicines which for years have flooded the market, and which are only injurious, in place of assisting or renovating the constitution, for a very good reason, too, that they are only made figure the effusions of minds guerant of the Medical profession affogsiber. No Minerals!

Dr. Wright thinks it well to stake the professional character on the fact, that no minerals whatever form the least component parts of the ingredients of his Rejuvenating Elixir—well knowing what ruin has been entailed on the community by optum and mercury.

Generally, to the debilitated, Dr. Wright would say, Never despair. No matter how worn down you may be, no matter how weak you are—no matter what the cause may have been—foranke at once whatever has led you to depart from Hygienic principles

Correspondence (H. J. Saymond) of the New York Times. BULL RUN BRIDGE, July 21, 2 P. N .- The great bat-tic occurred to-day, and the result is not certain at the moment I write. Both sides have fought with terrible tenacity. The battle has been hot and steady for three hours, and the less must be very heavy—certainly not under one thousand on each The Union army advanced from Centreville in three columns at 3 o'clock this morning. Col. Richardson commanded the column by the road to Bull's Run, where the action of Thursday took place, and Colonel Miles lay on the road and at Centreville to support him. Gen. Tyler commanded the center division, which took the Warrenton road. Gen Schenck and Gol. Sherman being in advance. He had the three Con ecticut regiments, two from Michigan, two from Wisconsin, and the Sixty-ninth and Seventy-ninth from New York. Gen. McDowell, with Col. Hunter and a very powerful division, went out on this road which leads directly forward to Manassas, crossing Bull's Run by a stone bridge, which had been min-The attack by these two points was intended mainly as a feint. The real attack was by Hunter, who took a narrow road two miles out leading to the right, having Hunt's and the Rhode island batteries, and leaving Col. Keyes on the center at the crossing of the roads as a reserve. His orders were to proceed high up the stream, cut himself a path through the woods cross over, and turn the position of the rebels on the North.

I went out with the center column. At ten min utes before six we halted about a mile this side of the position of the Rebels. The Sixty-ninth and Seventy-ninth Regiments of New York were thrown to the right, in the woods, and the First and Second Ohio and the Second New York to the left in adeliciting any response. Ten minutes after, we heard firing on our left, from Richardson's column, which was continued at intervals for two hours, but without eliciting any reply, Our column remained silent, firing now and then a gun, and at twenty minutes to eight, Ayres' Battery, formerly Sherman's, fired five or six sounds into the enemy, but without response. At a quarter before nine, whote were rapidly exchanged between the opposing skirmishers, and Gardner, belonging to the Rhode Island Regiment, was reported killed. At about ten o'clock heavy clouds of dust showed that reinforcements were coming up to the Robels from Manussas, and was continued through the next three or four hours. At 11 o'clock Ayre's Battery went up to the front. the 69th New York was ordered to deploy into the field in front, and firing was heard from Hunter's Division, on the extreme right, far in advance. The Ohio regiments were pushed forward with the Second New York, and ran upon a masked battery of four gans which killed and wounded quite a number of both. Of the latter, Michael McCarty, Sergeant of Company H, was wounded, and after wards reported dead. Lieut. Demsey received a slight wound. Some twenty or thirty of the Ohio regiment broke and run, but the rest stood firm, as did the Second New York. Carlisle's battery was brought to the front on the left, and soon drove the rebels out of the masked It was now 111 o'clock, when Hunter's columns appeared across the Run, advancing on the flanks forward to his support. The Sixty Ninth and Seventy-Ninth New York, the First, Second and Third Connecticut, and the Second Wisconsin were sent in. A constant roll of musketry marked Hunter's advance, and the artillery from our column played incessantly on the flank of the rebels. So far as I ould see the latter were pushed backward a considerable distance to the road directly in frost of where I stood, across which they charged twice with the bayonet upon our troops, but were repulsed each time. Our men crossed the road and poured in upon them a terrible fire of artillery and I write this at 21 o'clock, and am compelled to close in order to avail myself a special messenger to Washington. The fight is still going on with great energy. The rebel batteries have again comnenced firing upon us, and their balls and shells f-ll thick upon the road and in the field which I had

The troops were first ordered to move to 6 P. M. yesterday, but this order was subsequently countermanded. Last night a council of war was held, at which all the General Commanders of divisions and Colonel of regiment were present All the batteries moved forward at The main body of infantry started at 2:30

A. M., and were four hours and a half passing a given point at Centreville. Col. Heintzelman moved with 5,000 men to the left of the road, as a feint to draw the enemy to that point. Col. Hunter, with his division, 5,000 more, moved to the right. The central column of 30,000 men was to commence the conflict on the road to Manassas Junction. Gen. McDowell started an hour after from Centreville in a carriage with Dr. Armsby, of Albany, Henry Bercans, Gen. Mc-Dowell's father in-law, and Caleb Lyon, of Lyons-

After mounting the hill, two miles from Centreville, some obstructions delayed the center column for a short time. It marched on until about at the Run, when the bridge over it, which had been mined and covered with tar, blew up and burst into flames as our troops approached. Here Gen. McDowell nounted his horse and joined his staff. Cannonading had commenced on the left at 8 ter of the Re o'clock, and gradually extended along the whole line, the Junction. and continued from 9 to 10 o'clock almost without ketry were heard, leating for 70 minutes. Our artillery bore the brunt of the battle, and the gunners suffered severely. Terrible execution was done among the enemy. Our infantry fired admirably, and behaved above praise.

There is no doubt that the whole force at Manassas, the "Flower of the Gouthern Army," as Judge Campbell called it, all the Rebel reserves were engaged. At Centreville, where there is a full view of the Bull and Blue Hidges, was a large concourse of Congressmen, Senators and Representatives, and many were with the army beyond.

An officer brought news to Centreville, which was received with great enthusiasm, that Beauregard sent a flag of truce to Gen. McDowell, which he refused to receive, asying that he would accept he refused to receive, saying that he would accept noting but an unconditional surrender. Soon after, Coll Blenker's brigade, which had been at Centre-doubtless to join Heintzleman.

The enemy were very bold last night, and yester-day picked up blankets that our men, who were within hailing distance, had left.

The Sixty-ninth has resolved unanimously not to bome till the 3d of August. The Pennsylvania th, in painful contrast with this, was met returning toward Long Bridge.

Twenty-six of the wounded in Thursday's skirmish are in the hospital at Alexandria; the killed were nine. There are twenty-four cases of messles at Centerville, the legacy of the Rebels. About noon Gen. Schenck's brigade, which formed a part of the center of the line, were ordered to make a movement upon the enemy is front, and about midway between the center and the right wing.

They marched about a mile and a half through the woods, and the lat Ohio regiment, which is a the woods, and the lating emerged from them,

Our men fell upon their faces and most of the shot passed over. But any of the New York Second and two of one of the Ohio regiments were wounded.

The Rebels bayonetted the hodies of the wounded soldiers left on the ground, and in some instances stripped and tied them to tress. In the course of the battle, the New York Fire Zouaves bravely attacked and succeeded in turning the cavalry of the enemy, but with grest less to themselves. It is stated that their Colonel, Farn-ham, was killed.

Col. Sherman's brigade sufferred more severely than any of the others. Among the killed was Col. Slocum, of the 24 Rhode Jeland, and Col. Cameron of the 75th New York. Gov. Sprague's horse was killed under him. Col. Hunter was very severely, but not dangerously, wounded by a piece of the shell which cut open one side of his face. Gen. McDowell was aware of the immense disparity of forces, knowing Johnston had reinforced

The first range gun was fired by Sherman's battery, at ten minutes to seven o'clock. The Rebels did not return the shot until 14 hour afterwards.

When Col. Hunter's division came up, another battle became general. Col. Hunter's movement to gain the rear of the enemy was almost a success. The 30-pound Parrot gun was planted in the middle of the road, and at ten minutes past six it threw two shells into the battery of the enemy, but without eliciting any response. Ten minutes as the substitute of the enemy was almost a success. The enemy's position was opened on by several of Carlisle's howithers, followed by slight skirmishing. The Rebels rapidly received reinforcements from Manassas Junction after the attachment of the control of the control of the enemy was almost a success. The battle consisted of a success masked batteries which opened in every direction, (when one was silenced its place was supplied by two.) and in the daring charges of our intentry in unmasking them. The Second Ohio and Second New York militis were marched by flank through the woods by a new made road, within about a mile of the main road, when they came upon a battery of eight guns, with four regiments flanked in the rear. Our men were immediately ordered to lie down on either side of the road, in order to allow two pieces of artillery to pass through and attack the work, when this battery opened upon us, and on the third round killed Lient. Dempsey, of Company G, New York Second, and Wm. Maxwell, a drummer, and seriously wounding several others. Our troops were kept from filteen to twenty minutes under a galling fire, they not being able to exchange shots with the enemy, although within a stone throw of their batteries. The entering in regular order, and with their battery. The most gallant charge of the day was made by the Sixty-ninth, Seventy first and Thirteenth, who rushed upon one of the batteries, firing as they proceeded, with perfect colut, and attacking it with the bayonet's point. The yells of triumph seemed to carry all before it. They found that the Rebels had abandoned the battery and only taken one gun, but this success was acquired only after a severe loss of life, in which the Sixty-ninth most severely suffered, and it was reported that Lieut. Col. Nu gent was amongst the first killed.

The Zouaves also distinguished themselves by their spirited assaults on the batteries at the point of the boynet, but it is fared that their loss is im-Up to the hour of three o'clock, P. M., it was generall understood that we had hemmed in the enemy entirely, and that they were gradually retiring, that Colonel Hunter had driven them back in the rear, that Colonel Heintzleman's command was meeting with every success, and that it required but the reserve of Gen. Tyler's division to push on to Manse sas Junction. A Mississippi soldier was taken prisoner by Has brouck, of the Wisconsia Second Regiment. He turned out to be Brigade Quartermaster Pryor, cousin to Roger A. Pryor. He was captured with his horse as he by accident rode into our lines. He discovered himself by remarking to Hasbrouck: "We are getting badly cut to pieces." "What regi-ment do you belong to?" asked Hasbrouck. "The Nineteenth Mississippi," was the answer. "Then you are my prisoner," said Hasbrouck. From the statement of this prisoner it appears that our artillery has created great havee among the Rebels, of whom there are from thirty thousand select'd as my observatory.

General Schenck and two batteries are ordered enty-five thousand at the Junction. He describes an officer most promit fight, distinguished from the rest by his white horse, as Jeff. Davis. He confirms the previous reports of FAIRFAX STATION, July 21, 5:30 P. ter of our column. The area seems to have been filled with masked batteries. Washington, July 21-3 P. M .- Dispatches from Frirfax Court House, received from time to time from 10 o'clock up to 1:45, speak of heavy cannon ading up to the later hour, sometimes to the right sometimes to the left; sometimes nearer, some more distant. Guns were discharged as rapid as two a minute. It is certain that a battle along the whole line is going on, with as yet, doubtful results.

Gen. Scott is perfectly confident of the result. He went to church as usual, and half an hour since was aslep. He does not believe the enemy's force is 70,000, although the latest intelligence so estimates Two more dispatches have been received. That dated a little after 2 o'clock, says that firing was still going on actively. That dated 2:45 speaks of the cannonading as somewhat less active, more to-ward the left, and somewhat more distant, and adds that the musketry firing had greatly increased. This indicates that our army was getting the better of the Rebels, and following them up toward

From those who have seen all the dispatches we learn that there is no doubt that our troops have crossed Bull's Run, captured the batteries which gave trouble on Thursday, and are following up their advantage, but that the resistance is fierce and satisfactory. It is not certain that Johnston's whole force is yet at the Junction, since transportation by a one-horse railroad is slow. But had Gen. McClellan been in Gen. Patterson's place, he could not have got beyond Winchester, at furthest.

An observer judged that it would ordinarily take three mouths to do what these lumbermen did in half day.

At one o'clock six points were strongly attacked by our forces, and heavy cannonading at all, was going on. During the whole of the engagement the Rebels were retreating, but stubbornly and with determined resistance. At times volleys of mua-
